

My Heart is Growing Stronger

What you see before you is not a pleasant sight
My hair is gray my eye's are dim old age I daily fight
But though my steps grow slower and my memory fades away
If you could see inside my heart I'm growing stronger every day

My heart is growing stronger as I love this world no longer
And my eye's are fixed upon eternity
Tag I wait each day before Him for His promise is so true
If you'll just wait upon the Lord then He will surely strengthen you

Man looks on the outside but God looks on the heart
He see's your fears He knows your doubts daily grace He does impart
My heart is fixed on Jesus Blessed anchor of my soul
I know he'll take me through the valleys lead me to my final home

Written by Arlene Richards
Key of c